

◆ Summary

The IPOX Indexes fell last week, motivated by profit taking after six straight weeks of gains and renewed concerns over the strength of the global economic recovery, pushing up volatility. During the busiest week in global IPOs YTD, large-cap IPOs did not leave substantial amounts of money on the table.

◆ Highlights

IPOX Global Universe

- The IPOX Indexes fell after F&O expiration week, after profit taking in heavily-weighted names pushed up IPOX volatility from mid-week. The IPOX-30 Global Index (IPGL30), tilted towards global mega-caps with deep liquidity, fell by -3.39%, underperforming the benchmarks.
- 74/100 of companies in the broader IPOX-100 Global (IPGL100) Index fell with the equally-weighted IPO substantially beating the applied market-cap weighted Index (113 basis points), the first time in four weeks.

- Weakness was driven by the ever-volatile IPOX Global Mining and Materials Sector (-4.43%) as well as declines in global payment processors Visa (-4.24%) or Mastercard (-8.44%). IPOX Global Consumer Staples was the strongest sector, rising +1.98%.

[ Week ending 09/25/09 ]

Large IPOs don't leave money on the table:

- During the busiest week in global IPO activity, the initial performance of key large-caps was notably mixed, with most IPO companies leaving no money on the table.
- HK traded Metallurgical (1618 HK) finished the week with a loss of -10.55% based on the offering price, while US traded Artio Global (ART US) finished unchanged and Chinese Shanda Games (GAME US) (Note: "Shanda" in Hebrew: "Outrage" or "Shame"), fell by -14.00%. HK traded Sinopharm (1099 HK) rose by 25%, while A123 Systems (AONE US) closed 45.19% higher.

IPOX U.S. universe:

- The IPOX U.S. universe finished the week lower, underperforming benchmark S&P 500 (SPX) by around 90 basis points, giving up much of the relative gains from the previous week. Weakness in global payment processors led the relative decline.

IPOX Europe universe:

- After the Q3 2009 rebalancing led to a drop of long-run index member GDF Suez, the IPOX Europe universe traded in line with benchmarks with notable weakness in alternative energy and global miners.

Developed IPOX Asia-Pacific universe:

- The IPOX-30 Asia-Pacific Index (IPTA) showed renewed relative strength last week. With its 32.40% exposure to Japan, the index managed anew to tie the YTD performance of the HSI Index. Following its big ascent, social networker Gree Inc., split its stock on Thursday.

IPOX Emerging Markets Universe:

- The IPOX Emerging Markets universe traded in line to lower versus benchmarks last week. With much global focus remaining on IPO activity from companies domiciled in China, the IPOX China 20 (CNI) lost -4.46%, slightly underperforming the respective benchmarks.
- Selected Latin America companies traded strong, with a notable rise in June 2008 IPO OGX (+5.63%) – after starting its first exploration – and JBS (+4.02%), world's largest cattle producer. Other IPOX Latin America companies succumbed to the renewed spike in downside volatility in global miners, notably Chile-based Hochschild Mining (-12.87%) and Fresnillo (-6.01%).
